

The Better Dog Bed Checklist

Five signs. Three smarter checks. A better next bed.

A one-page check for the bed you already own.

The Better Dog Bed Checklist

If another bed has gone flat, you are not imagining the change. Check what has worn out before choosing the next one.

5 SIGNS YOUR BED MAY BE WORN OUT

- ☐ The centre has bottomed out.
Press the usual sleeping spot: the cushioning is thin or stays compressed.
- ☐ The filling has shifted.
You can feel hard lumps or empty patches instead of an even cushion.
- ☐ The rim no longer holds its shape.
The edge stays collapsed after normal use and any care-label reshaping.
- ☐ The fabric, zip or seams are failing.
Tears expose stuffing, loose threads or parts. Stop using a damaged bed.
- ☐ It no longer cleans or dries properly.
After label-directed care, it stays damp or persistently smells. Reassess use.

3 CHECKS BEFORE THE NEXT BED

- 1 Look beyond the filling name.
CloudNest lists PP cotton filling. With any fibre fill, loose packing can leave lumps or gaps. Ask how it is packed and held in place; the fill name alone does not prove durability.
- 2 Match fit to your dog.
Check usable sleeping space, the height of the rim and how easily your dog can get in and out.
- 3 Check care and aftercare.
Read the care label, trial terms and warranty coverage before buying. Keep your order details somewhere easy to find.
